THE DIDACHE

THE TEACHING OF THE TWELVE APOSTLES

In the earliest days of Christianity, many important letters and instructions were penned by the first followers of Christ which were held in great honor by the early Church and yet not included in the Canon of Sacred Scripture. The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles, The Didache was the earliest catechetical instruction of its kind, written late in the first century, it instructs the early Christians on all aspects of the Christian life. Lost to modern scholarship until its rediscovery in 1873, the Didache is considered one of the most important early Christian writings known today.
